Dear FCC:

Dear FCC:

I have a wireless phone for the sole purpose of safety and security. In the event there is some sort of emergency either personally or in some urgent situation involving other citizens. For example, I fortunately had no cause to use my wireless in the last year, therefore, I did not use it. The added cost associated with ownership of a wireless makes ownership cost prohibitive. These costs include; FEDERAL UNIVERSAL SERVICE, CORPORATE ADMIN FEE, FEDERAL TAXES AND STATE TAXES. Please help me keep my wireless by not adding more cost to my already heavily taxed security device.
Thank you,
Thomas E Duval

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter. Please provide a written response indicating the status/resolution of this matter.

Very truly yours,
